

THE VICIOUS SEAT.

Five Tammany Leaders Are Sitting Upon It To-Day.

Police Commissioner Martin on the Verge of Collapse.

Kempner's Fight Wins Sympathy from the Voters.

There are five Tammany leaders who are on the anxious seat. They are George F. Roach, of the Seventh; James W. Boyle, of the Ninth; John J. Brennan, of the Eleventh; James J. Martin, of the Twentieth; and John B. Sexton, of the Twenty-third. They may fail to elect Assemblymen in their districts and consequently lose their positions as leaders.

Police Commissioner Martin has more at stake than any of the others. He is worried over the possibility that he is on the verge of physical collapse. Mr. Martin is credited with an ambition to lose the election his enemies can surely use his defeat to crush him beyond hope of re-election. The way is shown for him in Tammany Hall, where he is expected to be elected by the vote of the Tammany members of the Assembly.

Leavitt is more distrustful to Tammany Hall than any of the others. He is a reformer. He is a member of the Tammany Hall, and would not be feared as much as Leavitt. Therefore, Martin's enemies will vote for Leavitt to elect him to the office of Police Commissioner, but because they hate Martin.

The most interesting character in this important part of the story is that of Martin's friends, driven to the extreme of choosing between two evils. They will vote for Leavitt, a member of the Tammany Club, and they will vote for Martin, a member of the Tammany Club.

Probably the hardest part of the city is being made by Otto Kempner. If he fails it will be against the great odds that one man ever fought against in a campaign. The sympathies of the voters are with him, but he is being persecuted. He is being persecuted by the police, and he is being persecuted by the police.

Kempner, who has charged detectives Main and Hock and several policemen with the murder of a woman, is being persecuted. He is being persecuted by the police, and he is being persecuted by the police.

The office of the Mayor will be opened immediately after the polls close on Tuesday to receive the votes. The office of the Mayor will be opened immediately after the polls close on Tuesday to receive the votes.

Bowery Storekeepers Think They Are the Victims of an Outrage.

Postmaster Dayton had his attention called this morning to an alleged outrageous election trick.

In their mail this morning the storekeepers along the Bowery, in the Third Assembly District, of which "Tim" Sullivan is Tammany leader, received each a letter from the Bowery Storekeepers' Association, which was a letter from the Bowery Storekeepers' Association.

YOUNG SCHMIDT NO SUICIDE.

Parents and Employers Deny the Report of the Police.

The Former Will Demand a Rigid Investigation by the Coroner.

The relatives and friends of William Schmidt, the young man who died yesterday afternoon from a fatal poison, are denying the report of the police that he was a suicide.

John Schmidt, father of the dead lad, who up to a few months ago kept a clear store at 142 1/2 East Avenue for the past twenty years, said to an "Evening World" reporter today:

All the stories that have been published and the intimations that have been made that my boy committed suicide are absolutely false, and to one who has known him for twenty years, I am at a loss to know how and by whom the poison was administered.

"So far as I know he had no enemies who would seek to harm him," said William Schmidt, who came home from work Thursday afternoon as usual, in a most cheerful mood and after he had been drinking.

At 10 o'clock we were awakened by his groans, and when he was found lying on the floor, he was in a most pitiful condition. He was in a most pitiful condition. He was in a most pitiful condition.

The boy was questioned most closely by the doctor for two hours, and he denied having taken the poison. When the doctor failed to get anything out of him but a denial that he had taken the poison, he was taken to the hospital.

RAN INTO ANOTHER CAR.

Devlin Held to Await the Result of a Passenger's Injuries.

Joseph Devlin, a time-keeper employed by the Third Avenue Railroad Company, was held in the Tombs Police Court this morning to await the result of a passenger's injuries.

At 6:15 o'clock last night, according to the story of Policeman Masterson, of the Tenth Precinct, who made the arrest, Devlin jumped on a southbound Third Avenue car at Eighth street and, by wrenching the lines out of Driver James Carroll's hands, whipped up the car and proceeded to finish the trip himself.

The car, Masterson declares, came bounding along at a rapid rate until at Spring street it ran into a Metropolitan Crosstown car, with sufficient force to damage both cars considerably, and throw Mr. Maloney off the platform of the Crosstown car under the wheels.

Maloney was returning from his school in Gork street to his home at 49 Cherry street. He was picked up in a semi-conscious condition and sent to St. Vincent's Hospital, where it was found that his spine was sprained and his body badly contused.

Policeman Masterson arrested Devlin and locked him up over night. In court this morning he was charged with assault and battery on a person.
